2012 DORSET BREEDER EXCELLENCE WINNER DORSETS N' DAYLILIES - KIRSTEN HATFIELD

The 2012 Dorset Breeder Excellence Winner is Dorsets N' Daylilies owned and operated by Jason & Kirsten Hatfield in Zanesville, Ohio. Kirsten has been in the Dorset business since 1980, formerly operating under the Nutty Acres Farm name. Since they have also been raising high quality daylilies since 1986, Kirsten and Jason combined their farming enterprise under one name last year to Dorset N' Daylilies. Pictured to the left is Coulter Passwaters, CDC Eastern Director presenting Kirsten, Jason and their daughter Hainsley with their award at the 2013 Ohio Dorset Sale.

The Hatfields run about 150 registered Dorset ewes and 25 head of Dorset cross ewes in Southeastern Ohio on strip mine ground. They produce a Dorset that will work for all types of producers, whether they are commercial, production, frame or wether. They strive to have Dorsets that are full of meat, three dimensional, easy keeping, prolific with a good lambing percentage twice a year, hardy and naturally fall lambing. They run a low input system so the brood ewes must keep themselves and bring in at least 2 lambs a year to the barn or they don't remain in the flock. They have also utilized the Dorsets in their crossbred flock using them on black face crossbred ewes and Dorper cross ewes to produce lambs for the growing commercial sector.

Dorsets N' Daylilies expect their ewes to breed as lambs and lamb for the first time by the time they are 14-16 months old. They are bred the first time to a full blood dorper ram to produce roaster lambs for the ethnic market. Not only does this produce a quality lamb for this market but also assists the virgin lambers in ease of lambing with reduced birth weights. After the first lambing, then they are exposed to a purebred Dorset. All of their lambs are weaned at 50 - 60 days of age and the ewes, both mature and ewe lambs, are then exposed for either spring or fall lambing.

The Dorsets N' Daylilies flock is promoted by a very nice website www.dorsetsdaylilies.com, and they also have a facebook page. They are also involved in the 4-H program as Kirsten serves as a club advisor. They promote the Dorset breed to anyone who will listen and are strong supporters of new sheep producers and will help out anyone who calls 24/7. The Hatfields are strong supporters of the youth through different events and the junior fair livestock sales. Congratulations to Kirsten and her family on this very well deserved recognition!

LETTER FROM CDC PRESIDENT CASEY SIDWELL

Hello all. I'm sure many of you, like me, are excited about the prospect of warmer weather. Here in Colorado, early spring has been a wet snowy one! It has brought moisture that we were in desperate need of, so despite the mud and cold, we are thankful.

The spring sale season is well underway, and from what I've seen, the demand for Dorset females remains strong. The folks on the West coast are getting geared up to host us all at the National Dorset Sale and Meeting in Reno later in May. From the sounds of it, they are planning a great event. I look forward to seeing all who attend. Additionally, now is the time to wish good luck to all of our junior members in the upcoming summer show season. I know you will represent us well.

As always, we are open to your ideas for improving and expanding our service to our registrants and prospective breeders. So feel free to contact us. Regards,

Casey Sidwell, CDC President

OHIO DORSET SALE GETS THINGS STARTED

Grand Champion Polled Dorset Ram
Early Fall Ram Lamb
Riverwood Farms, Powell, OH
Sold to: Glenn Stunkel, Tuscarora, MD

It always feels good to head to Eaton, Ohio in the mid March to start the new year of purebred sheep sales because you know that the long winter season will be coming to an end soon. This year it took a little longer for winter to end but the Ohio Dorset Sale was another pretty successful event.

The sale sold 135 head of Polled Dorsets that averaged $1020.00 per head and the Horned portion of the sale sold 43 head averaging $631.40. The Horned Dorsets also had a new breed record broken as the Grand Champion Horned Ram from the Kim Root Family, Carroll OH sold to Houfe Dorsets from Milton, WI for $3800. Congratulations to them both!

The high selling ram of the Polled Sale was the popular Senior Champion Fall Yearling Ram from Spilde Brothers, Stoughton, WI that sold to Sidney DeVries, IL for $7000. The Grand Champion Polled Ram from Riverwood also garnered a great price at $4600 and five other rams brought over $1000. It is becoming more and more apparent that the potential elite stud rams are the ones bringing the good prices at these sales. The better than average rams are just not demanding the good prices at this time. The Polled Dorset ewe division had several females bring well over $1000. High selling polled dorset ewe was the Junior Champion fall ewe lamb entry from Twin Oaks Dorsets, OH that sold to Johanna DeJoria of Oregon for $5000. Right behind her price wise, was the Grand Champion Polled Ewe, a fall born yearling ewe from T & T Dorsets, IL that sold for $4750 to Olivia Waggoner of East Berlin, PA. The fall yearling ewe class sold very well as the class averaged $1329.17, the highest class average of the sale, and the early fall ewe class also averaged just above $1000. Spilde Brothers of Stoughton, WI was named the Townsend Best Consignor for the Polled portion of the sale.

The Horned Dorset sale not only featured the new record price for a ram but also the Grand Champion Ewe from Cassell Horned Dorsets, Wytheville, VA sold for an impressive $2000 price to new breeder Steve Vessels from Vine Grove, KY. The yearling ewe class also posted the highest class average at $712.50 with other quality females being sold. The horned sale had several new breeders purchasing which is a great sign for their continuing growth. Kim Root & Family was named the Townsend Best Horned Dorset Sale consignor with their impressive set of fall lambs they entered, which included both horned champions. The complete sale report and more pictures can be found on pages 15-17 of this newsletter.

Outside of the show and sale ring at the sale, the Dorset breed can be very proud of its continued support of the youth in the Dorset breed. This year at the Ohio Sale the National Junior Dorset Association ran a silent auction to raise funds for their association and scholarship program. There were several items donated for the fundraiser and it brought in $675 for the NDJA. Thank-you to all the donors and bidders!

Funding also needed to be raised for the upcoming Dorset shows at the All American Junior Show this July in Michigan. Riverwood Farms and Shepherd's View-The Passwaters Family donated 6 straws of "Premium Pickle" Semen, Tad Thompson-Reproduction Specialty Group donated 5 AI services and Patoka Valley Sheep donated the proceeds from the sale of their horned yearling ewe entry at the sale. Junior Dorset breeders, Michael Pope and Sally Squires, also went through the barns soliciting class sponsors for the All American and they did a great job as they handed me completely full sheets of sponsors! Thanks to everyone there was $2,720 raised for the Dorset sponsorship at the show this summer. The Ohio Dorset Association continues its support of their youth by presenting their 2013 scholarship to Tyler Myers, Rushsylvania, OH. Congratulations to Tyler!

Fall Yearling Ewe
T & T Dorsets, Arcola, IL

The Dorset Futurity program had tremendous breeder support as all but one polled ewe lamb was nominated and the majority of the horned ewe lambs were nominated. There were 71 dorset ewe lambs nominated by the breeders and of those 34 of them were purchased by junior breeders, making them eligible for the 2013 Dorset Futurity program. A great start once again to the futurity program! Last year there was a payout of premiums and awards of $5132.88 to our junior buyers.

It is great to work with a breed that is so committed to their youth. Everyone steps up and helps out, a true testament to a great group of Dorset breeders. Looking forward to another great year in the Dorset breed!

DORSET COMMERCIAL CONNECTION

What Are You Doing to Increase Lamb Consumption?

by Melanie Barkley, Extension Educator
Penn State University

While total numbers of sheep and lambs in the United States is declining, so is the average consumption of lamb by consumers. The laws of supply and demand dictate that if supply decreases, then demand should increase. But, if demand for lamb is decreasing as well as the supply of lamb, perhaps as producers we need to take a look at what we are doing to increase the consumption of lamb in the United States.

According to the Ag Marketing Resource Center, per capita lamb consumption in 1990 was 1.6 lbs. and this declined to 0.88 lbs. in 2011. If we compare this to per capita lamb consumption in Australia and New Zealand, we are looking at 26 lbs. and 25 lbs. respectively. The United States boasts a very large number of meat eating consumers, so what is preventing people from eating lamb? The American Lamb board states "more than one third of consumers have never had the opportunity to taste lamb."

The Ag MRC report also says "Domestically, lamb is not a strong competitor with other animal-sourced proteins such as beef, pork, and poultry. Given that most meat consumers never consume lamb, its substitutability with other red meat products is quite limited. However, lamb must compete for retail shelf space with other meat products."

One other challenge that we as sheep producers face is that lamb is consumed mostly during the spring holidays rather than all year. This creates challenges for processors who try to keep a consistent and constant supply of fresh lamb available all year. What can you as a producer do to encourage people to enjoy American lamb? Here are a few thoughts that I have for producers to consider:

1. Educational displays at state and local fairs: We all know that the general public is several generations removed from the farm and so have no concept of how their food is produced. Most states have sheep and wool growers' organizations that can develop a display for their state fair. Members can staff the display and answer questions that the public has about lamb and wool production. The most often asked question that I answered this year at the PA Farm Show (PA's state fair) was "where can I find lamb locally.?" The easiest way to answer this question was to pull out a member directory for the PA Sheep and Wool Growers Association and find a producer located near them.

2. Serve lamb when friends come to dinner: Yes, this is certainly a "no-brainer." But, what if you also give your friends the recipe? Or better yet, order some recipe brochures from the American Lamb Board and share these with friends and family. It seems that so many people not only don't take time to cook these days, but they also don't know how to cook. Supplying folks with a recipe certainly encourages them to try lamb at home.

3. Get youth involved in promoting lamb: Our local fair's lamb show continues to grow each year and that means the number of lambs sold through the junior livestock sale increases also. Youth can help with promotion by giving out recipes and cooking instructions to potential buyers. The local sheep producers group might also get youth involved in serving samples. (Be sure to check out any local regulations pertaining to serving samples safely!)

4. Post your farm information on foodie type websites: The local foods movement is very strong in certain areas across the country. Posting your farm information and availability of lamb for sale is a great way to increase the availability of lamb to consumers. Our local grocery stores don't always carry lamb, but consumers may be looking to buy lamb during those times of the year when lamb isn't available.

5. Put a sign at the end of your driveway: This is about as easy as it gets if you live along a well-traveled road. Fresh, locally grown lamb for sale. Hang the sign out whenever you have lamb available. Consumers can even see how the lamb is raised if they have an interest. (I made the suggestion, so I best get to work making a sign for the end of my driveway!) This could even be a great way to pull together sheep producers in your area for a sign painting day...followed by a lamb dinner of course!

What other ideas do you have for promoting lamb? Summer is coming, so get grilling and invite some friends over to enjoy the great taste of lamb!

Summer is a great time to get friends and family to try lamb. Invite friends and family to a picnic and give them some recipes to encourage them to try lamb.

USING TECHNOLOGY TO REACH PRODUCERS

A recent series of educational workshops held online by Ohio State University (OSU) Extension experts geared toward sheep and goat farmers has drawn more than 1,300 views so far from farmers in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, OSU Extension educator, Jeff McCutcheon, says.

The 2013 Sheep and Goat WebEx Program Series was presented over four days at 18 sites statewide in February using a WebEx online format as part of an ongoing effort to reach as many producers as possible on issues relevant to growing and enhancing their operations.

"The need is there for this kind of programing, and based on feedback that we've gotten thus far, the program is a success," McCutcheon said. "A majority of participants, 93 percent, said they gained knowledge from viewing the program; and 63 percent said they planned to make a change to their operation based on the information learned through the program."

Topics for the series included:

- Vaccination Programs for Sheep and Goat Operations;
- Artificial Insemination Techniques of Sheep and Goats;

- Managing Pastures and Hay Fields after a Drought;
- Use of EAZI-BREED CIDR for Sheep and Goat Operations.

The series is sponsored by the Ohio Sheep Improvement Association (OSIA), OSU Extension and the OSU Sheep Team and can be viewed online at <http://sheep.osu.edu/presentation-library/>. Check these out, as they are very informative for the sheep producer.

BUILDING TRUST IN WHAT WE EAT

FoodThink, a research-based initiative from Sullivan Higdon and Sink, was developed to uncover insights about food in America that can help agri-marketers craft effective communications to advance industry knowledge and confidence.

The newest FoodThink white paper, Building Trust in What We Eat, explores what consumers know (or think they know) about where their food comes from before it reaches their plates.

Valuable insights to agri-marketers include:

*Americans crave more information about food production: 69 percent of consumers think it's important to understand how their food is produced.

*When you can't bring consumers to the farm, bring the farm to consumers: 19 percent of people who visit farms feel better about the safety and quality of the food they eat.

*The agriculture community can gain more consumer confidence: More consumers trust the agriculture community than food manufacturers, though there is room to improve their confidence with transparency and education. Interestingly, consumers are more trusting of farmers and ranchers than of the academic community or media.

The report can be downloaded at <http://shsfoodthink.com/white-papers>. For those of you selling your lamb product directly to the consumer at farmers markets or off farm, this report provides some great tips in promoting your food product to the American consumer.

GREAT PLAINS & WESTERN CDC DIRECTOR ELECTION RESULTS

This past spring the CDC held director elections in the Great Plains and Western Regions. Two incumbent board members have been re-elected as both current CDC directors from those regions were eligible to run for their second term.

Congratulations to Casey Sidwell, Gill, CO and Johnnie Johnson, Davis, CA on being re-elected for their second term on the CDC Board of Directors. The CDC looks forward to having them back working on the board for the next three years as Casey currently does serve as President of the board and Johnnie as Vice President.

A big thank-you to all that ran for these positions, as it is very important to get your regions represented on the CDC board. It is a small board and does rely heavily on their member involvement and participation to function successfully for the Dorset breed.

ANNOUNCING SUMMER/FALL CDC OFFICE CLOSINGS

The CDC Office remains committed to providing the best service to our breeders on registration work but due to budget constraints we have cut back on outside help in the CDC office. To assist in rush work the CDC has online registration procedures and now accept credit card payment to shorten processing time. Looking forward to hearing from all the Dorset breeders this year and getting your work done in a timely manner.

EWE GRANT PROGRAM RECIPIENTS PURCHASE EWES

The two ewe lambs grant winners selected this past December, Emily Ellison, Newport, TN and Brooke Kirchofer, Berne, IN have purchased their ewe lambs. Emily purchased a futurity ewe lamb out of the Ohio Sale from Spilde Brothers, Stoughton, WI and Brooke purchased a ewe lamb off the farm privately from Bradley Daniels & Family, Portland, IN. Both of the grants have been fulfilled when the registration papers were transferred to the new owners. Good luck to both Emily and Brooke on their ewe lamb purchases!

DORSET BREED REMEMBERS TWO LADY PRODUCERS

-JUNE WEEDY, 66, Frederick, MD passed away February 19, 2013 after bravely battling cancer. A memorial service was held March 1st at the Brook Hill United Methodist Church, Frederick, MD, of which June was a member.

June leaves her husband Kim, and was the daughter of the late C. Lester and Dorothy Crummitt Dudrow. She is survived by her children Aaron Weedy and wife Nicole of Annapolis; and Karen Weedy of Texas, grandchildren Madison and Ava Weedy and her brother Kevin Dudrow, Buckeystown, MD.

June and Kim have been raising Dorset and Southdown sheep for many years in Maryland and were active members in their local, regional and national breed associations. Kim & June were honored by the American Southdown Breeders with their special "Spirit of the Breed Award" a few years ago for their dedication to the Southdown breed and promoting sheep in Maryland and neighboring states. Those who know the Weedys' personally, also knew that June's first love were her Dorsets.

June's parents had started a scholarship for college students majoring in Agricultural studies. The Dudrow Scholarship Fund provides scholarships to Frederick County residents studying agriculture. Memorial contributions may be sent to: www.cffredco.org. Our sympathies and thoughts to Kim and their family on June's passing.

-LUCY (POLLY) G. CARTER, 88, Weston, MA passed away peacefully on April 13, 2013. "Polly" as she was known to most, was born November 27, 1924 in Zurich, Switzerland. She was the daughter of William and Lucy Gallup. She was a graduate of Vassar College and a school-teacher in her early career. She married Frank B. Carter, Jr., in 1955 and they made their home in Weston. Soon thereafter they developed Woodleigh Farms, a diversified farm that remains in operation to this date. Polly has raised Horned Dorset sheep for many years and was still registering and selling them locally.

Polly was very active with her beloved Morgan horses and was for many years a leader for the Weston 4-H Horse Club. She served on the Board of Trustees of the Massachusetts 4-H Foundation and the Boston Poultry Exposition for many years. She and her husband also raised Basset Hounds and competed with their prized dogs.

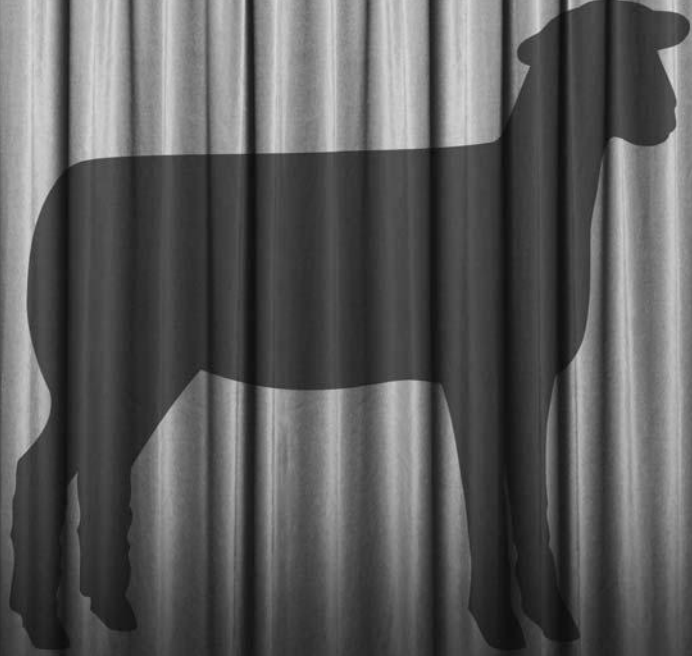

Polly was predeceased by her husband, Frank B. Carter, Jr, and a brother, William A. Gallup, Jr. She is survived by four sons; Charles E. Gillespie, Jr. of Weston; Douglas P. Gillespie and his wife Denise of Weston; Frank B. Carter III and his wife Mary of Claremont, New Hampshire and Stephen G. Carter and his wife Donna of Weston.

Gifts in memory of Polly may be sent to the Massachusetts 4-H Foundation, 22 Eliot St., Ashland, MA 01721. Our condolences to the Gillespie and Carter families.

- 1) Exhibitor must be a current member of the CDC whether in the youth enrollment program or as a lifetime member.
- 2) Exhibitor needs to be 21 years old or younger as of January 1st of the current year. There is no lower age limit but the exhibitor must be able to lead and/or control the head of his/her animal in the show ring.

family" ownerships are not acceptable.

5) Exhibitor can show at an unlimited number of regional junior shows per year, the CDC does prefer they at least show at the regional show in which they reside if possible.

7) EWE FUTURITY PROGRAM: Your futurity ewe can earn double points at a regional junior show for the futurity ewe program. If you show at more than one regional show only your top point total will be doubled.

Regional junior shows are sometimes held in conjunction with existing shows so there definitely may be other show specific rules and regulations that apply. Please be aware of these additional requirements when making out your entries to these special shows.

2013 SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION AVAILABLE ON-LINE

2013 DORSET EWE FUTURITY PROGRAM

To date we have had 95 polled ewe lambs nominated in the spring Dorset Sales, and 50 lambs are eligible to participate in this year's program. In the horned dorset ewe lamb futurity, we have had 16 ewe lambs nominated, 7 head have been bought by junior owners. The yearling ewe program has one nomination to date but that entry deadline does not close until

LETTER FROM JUNIOR DORSET ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT SARAH BUSH

Spring has sprung, Spring is slowly arriving here in Missouri; but by and by it's getting warmer and greener every day. I love when the snow melts and the lambs get to be outside, and everything is so colorful. I hope everyone has had an awesome crop of spring lambs. Speaking of lambs reminds me of Ohio, Thank you to everyone who participated and bought baskets to the silent auction in Ohio. And congrats to those individuals that sold some beautiful sheep at Ohio, and Illinois. If you missed these two sales there is still time before show season! There is still the National Sale in Reno and the Midwest Stud Ram Sale in Sedalia in June.

Which brings us to the futurity program; be sure to check the CDC web-page for all of the information on other up-coming sales where you can still purchase your futurity ewes, and the calendar for the regional shows. The futurity program is a great way for breeders to promote their stock and juniors to have added on-going excitement, along with financial incentives, with the shows all summer long. You can find all of the information about this program in the Dorset Connections as well as on the web-site.

I hope everyone is excited about the up-coming show season. The Midwest Preview Show has moved to Sedalia, and will be held June 15, 2013, and the 20th annual All American Junior Show in East Lansing, Michigan, July 4th-7th. The Michigan show is held at an absolutely beautiful facility at the Michigan State Livestock Pavilion, University of Michigan. The Michigan host committee is working hard to make this another awesome junior show. Along with various promotional competitions, showmanship, wool contest and herdsmanship, there is also a great 3-on-3 basketball tournament which is so much fun to participate in. For you older juniors don't forget the scholarship contest, there are five scholarships which can be applied for. I hope to see you all there! On Saturday during the show, we will be having a lunch and a short junior meeting with some fun activities; it is always a lot of fun to get together with your new friends and their families. I encourage you to come and participate and enjoy some lunch. Looking forward to seeing you this summer!

Sarah Bush, NJDA President

the end of May so please get those in.

Thank-you to all of the Dorset breeders for nominating their ewe lambs! The overwhelming support by the Dorset breeders is the major reason why this program has become so successful! Juniors are able to select from a large number of ewe lambs that will fit into both their breeding program and financial budget. There are plenty of sales remaining where junior buyers can select futurity ewe lambs right up to the New England Sale in July.

The program has dropped the requirement of getting futurity lambs tattooed after purchasing but will use the scrapie tags as the permanent identification. If a lamb loses their original scrapie tag, notification must be made immediately to the CDC office before showing the lamb again for points. Good luck and get those point record forms in on time!
